

Four Divorce Risks Your Clients May Not Know Exist

Help clients take a long-term view to protect family wealth

By Blair C. Talty

Head of Family Office
Strategies and Experience

Key points

- Divorce can derail family wealth and affect generations far beyond just one couple
- Even those who are not divorcing or contemplating divorce—including those beginning prenuptial planning—could benefit from knowing what is at stake in the event of a divorce, be it their own or that of a business partner, parent, sibling, or descendant
- A multidisciplinary team of tax, legal, and wealth advisors can help clients position themselves against the many risks inherent in the case of a divorce

Even in the best cases, divorce is still fraught with complexity. Your clients may not be aware of all the ways a divorce could derail family wealth.

Even those who are not divorcing or contemplating divorce—and come your way instead for prenuptial planning—could benefit from knowing what is at stake in the event of a divorce, be it their own or that of a business partner, parent, sibling, or descendant.

The good news is that with some foresight and planning, these risks can be mitigated, if not sidestepped entirely.

RISK 1:

Unsheltered generational wealth could be lost

When clients set up generational wealth to pass directly to their heirs, and those assets are commingled with spousal assets or used to buy marital property, they may become fair game in divorce proceedings of such heirs.

Help clients explore:

Dynasty trusts

Families do not have to rely on prenuptials to protect assets. A less emotionally charged way to shelter generational wealth is to plan its transfer using a dynasty trust with a corporate fiduciary. This way, assets intended for multigenerational use are not lost in a divorce. Dynasty trusts are long-term trusts created to pass wealth from generation to generation without incurring wealth transfer taxes.

Corporate fiduciaries often serve as objective and experienced trustees to help protect trust assets for the benefit of successive generations.

A collaborative team of seasoned professionals can help your clients make enduring action plans. These plans can help preserve family wealth and make sure its transfer does not rely on the success of any current or future marriage.

Continued

Four divorce risks your clients may not know exist

Help clients take a long-term view to protect family wealth

1. Unsheltered generational wealth could be lost
2. Unintended beneficiaries could inherit or gain control
3. An ex-spouse's death could de-stabilize a family
4. Divorce could mean the demise of a family business

A multidisciplinary team of tax, legal, and wealth advisors can help clients position themselves against the many risks inherent in the case of a divorce. This guidance is especially critical when considerable assets are at stake.

RISK 2:

Unintended beneficiaries could inherit or gain control

Failing to update fiduciary appointments, beneficiary designations, and guardianship arrangements for the care of minors—either during or in preparation for divorce—can be catastrophic.

Help clients explore:

Beneficiary and fiduciary mapping

As divorce proceedings move forward, each spouse should review and update fiduciary appointments and beneficiary designations under their wills, trusts, living wills, medical directives, and powers of attorney, as well as any insurance policies, annuity contracts, or retirement accounts.

In cases where a remarriage is on the horizon, blended families should revisit planning documents and beneficiary designations to make sure they align with the clients' collective intentions. With the help of advisors, these families can be made aware of how estate plans can be structured so that both individually and jointly owned assets benefit a surviving spouse and successive generations. This planning vigilance is most important when there are children from prior marriages on both sides.

RISK 3:

An ex-spouse's death could destabilize a family

The death of an ex-spouse can leave a devastating gap in child support, alimony, higher education costs, or other obligations that may have been negotiated in a settlement agreement or hard fought and won in a divorce proceeding.

Help clients explore:

Using life insurance to secure the obligations of an ex-spouse

Life insurance can provide funds necessary to meet an individual's post-marriage financial obligations to his or her ex-spouse in the event of such individual's untimely death. Securing sufficient life insurance can be made a part of the divorce settlement process.

An irrevocable life insurance trust, or ILIT, is designed to hold life insurance proceeds and then distribute them as directed by the trust's creator, or grantor. While they are often designed to provide a legacy for children or grandchildren in a tax-efficient manner, ILITs, in combination with other estate planning vehicles, can also be helpful in blended family situations where there are children from prior marriages and continuing financial obligations on the part of one or both divorced spouses.

Continued

RISK 4:

Divorce can mean the death of a family business

If one or both spouses are business owners, an inadequate buy-sell agreement or lack of liquidity could crush a business if an owner gets divorced.

Help clients explore:

Comprehensive business succession planning with divorce provisions

Typically, the best prevention is to make sure your client's business has a sound succession plan in place that includes provisions in the event of divorce.

Business partners are wise to structure business agreements to protect against the claims of an ex-spouse of one of the business partners.

If liquidity is an issue during the course of a divorce proceeding (due to a disproportionately high percentage of business or real estate holdings), access to personal credit can help satisfy the terms of a divorce settlement in a way that may not jeopardize business operations.

A multidisciplinary team of tax, legal, and wealth advisors can help clients position themselves against the many risks inherent in the case of a divorce. This guidance is especially critical when considerable assets are at stake.

Blair C. Talty
Head of Family Office Strategies and Experience

856.330.8012
btalty@wilmingtontrust.com

As Head of Family Office Strategies and Experience, part of Wilmington Trust Emerald Family Office & Advisory®, Blair leads the effort to provide successful entrepreneurs and their families with a customized family office experience, focusing on strategic planning advice, data reporting and analytics, personal financial services, and family engagement and education.

Blair has over 20 years of experience in advising clients as a practicing trusts and estates attorney and as a wealth planning advisor. He holds a law degree from Rutgers School of Law and a bachelor's degree in criminal justice from Rutgers University. He is active in his local community, having served on numerous nonprofit and philanthropic boards and advisory committees. Blair is also very active in youth sports in his community.

This article is for informational purposes only and is not intended as an offer or solicitation for the sale of any financial product or service. This article is not designed or intended to provide financial, tax, legal, investment, accounting, or other professional advice since such advice always requires consideration of individual circumstances. If professional advice is needed, the services of a professional advisor should be sought.

There is no assurance that any investment, financial, or estate planning strategy will be successful. These strategies require consideration for suitability of the individual, business, or investor.

Certain information in this article was obtained or derived from other third-party sources and other elements were provided in their entirety by a third party. Such third parties are believed to be reliable, but the information is not verified, and no representation is made as to its accuracy or completeness. The opinions, estimates, and projections constitute the judgment of Wilmington Trust and are subject to change without notice.

Wilmington Trust Emerald Family Office & Advisory® is a registered trademark and refers to wealth planning, family office and advisory services provided by Wilmington Trust, N.A., a member of the M&T family. Wilmington Family Office is a service mark for an offering of family office and advisory services provided by Wilmington Trust, N.A.

Wilmington Trust is not authorized to and does not provide legal or tax advice. Our advice and recommendations provided to you are illustrative only and subject to the opinions and advice of your own attorney, tax advisor or other professional advisor.

Wilmington Trust is a registered service mark used in connection with various fiduciary and non-fiduciary services offered by certain subsidiaries of M&T Bank Corporation including, but not limited to, Manufacturers & Traders Trust Company (M&T Bank), Wilmington Trust Company (WTC) operating in Delaware only, Wilmington Trust, N.A. (WTNA), Wilmington Trust Investment Advisors, Inc. (WTIA), Wilmington Funds Management Corporation (WFMC), Wilmington Trust Asset Management, LLC (WTAM), and Wilmington Trust Investment Management, LLC (WTIM). Such services include trustee, custodial, agency, investment management, and other services. International corporate and institutional services are offered through M&T Bank Corporation's international subsidiaries. Loans, credit cards, retail and business deposits, and other business and personal banking services and products are offered by M&T Bank, Member FDIC.

Investment and Insurance Products: Are NOT Deposits | Are NOT FDIC Insured | Are NOT Insured By Any Federal Government Agency Have NO Bank Guarantee | May Go Down In Value